

T W O T W E L V E

Choreographed + Directed by Jodie Randolph, in collaboration with the artists

ABOUT

Two Twelve questions the undeniable tensions in our world through the subject of interpersonal conflict. Innate opposition becomes the source of investigation, offering a deep reflection of the polarity within ourselves. Our complicated need for human connection is countered by the wars that ensue between nations, between people, and ultimately within. A contrast between the individual versus the collective, this work explores themes of dependence, individuality, and manipulation set in motion by a series of reactions that reach for a tipping point and question the boundary between self and other.

Premiere: May 2019

Run Time: 60 minutes without intermission | Excerpts starting at 7 minutes

Cast: 5 for full show | 2-5 for excerpts

Accommodations: 4 rooms

Freight: Six foot metal table

Original Cast: Sam Assemany, Claire Little, Christina Perry, Kaitlyn Pollock, Megan Scheppelman

Lighting Design: Seth Amadei

LINKS

TECHNICAL RIDER

MEDIA

